vermicompost –

Vermicomposting: Organic waste of the campus is converted into a vermicompost pit maintained by the Department of Zoology. Vermi-composting is a process by which organic waste is converted to bio-fertilizer using earthworms. Vermicompost contains major and minor nutrients. It also contains growth hormones, antibiotics and vitamins which are beneficial for the growth of crops, flowering and fruits settling and resistance to pest and diseases. Compost also contains calcium, humus which improves soil structure and moisture holding capacity

Vermi-compost Preparation: All vegetables and other fruits scraps or wet waste is dumped into the vermin-compost pit. Vermicompost by using earthworms and subjected to composting, worms eat organic waste and excrete the materials as the nutrient rich fertilizer contains high levels of humus so produced vermin-compost is mixed into the soil. Instead of using other artificial and chemical fertilizers we can use Vermi-compost as a natural fertilizer for the plants. Vermi-compost is not only good for the plants but also it is free of any side effects unlike the other man-made fertilizers. It is easy to make and use. There is no environmental pollution involved.

Place of Establishment of Vermi-compost Pit: In the garden of St. Ann's College for Women, Mehdipatnam volunteers to sell the packets of vermicompost at a very reasonable price.

Entrepreneurship Development Cell

Education is the foundation of any society and educational institutions structure a nation's future by facilitating all round development of its future citizens. The young of today are gearing up to become adult citizens of tomorrow. We must stimulate curiosity in the young, impressionable minds and equip them with tools to become better human beings. The learning process is instrumental in shaping one's personality and the way she deals with situations of life and vision of institutions in education should be focused on well-rounded development

We make a collective effort involving dedication, inspiration, and integrity and are hopeful that the success of our endeavors to promote quality sustenance and enhancement, as also to bring about stakeholder participation and involvement at all levels will come through clearly in our future end

SKILL ORIENTED COURSES

Skill development helps build a strong foundation for students at the school level. It helps build self-esteem, confidence, and leadership skills. It develops problem-solving skills and collaboration. It helps students become independent thinkers and encourages them to plan for their future. As schools in India are primarily academic-centric, introducing skill development through the curriculum is essential.

It helps students explore and learn things outside of their textbooks. It also gives them the freedom to think independently and make choices at an early age. It builds team spirit, creativity, inquisitiveness, trustworthiness, assertiveness, and sympathy in students. All of this goes on to create a solid foundation for a successful academic and professional future.

Education and skill development go hand in hand in preparing students for the pressures and demands of today's challenging world. In order to achieve the same, the college offers the following SOC courses .

1. Embroidery
2. Home Decoration
3. Pencil Sketching and Shading
4. Glass Painting
5. Fabric Painting
6. Oil Painting
7. Handicrafts

DEPARTMENT OF MICROBIOLOGY

FERMENTED FOOD FEISTA REPORT

On the occasion of International Microorganism Day on September 17th, Department of Microbiology, St. Ann's College for Women organized an activity titled Fermented Food Feista. Seven Teams each comprising of 2-4 students participated in the activity. Students prepared fermented foods and had counters for sale of the same in the college as an entrepreneurship activity. Main objective of this Fermented Food Fiesta was to make students understand and learn about useful microorganism used for making different microbial fermented food products which enhances the food quality and also health.

Student Engagement is considered as one of the high-impact practices used to improve their overall learning experience. Course activity adopted the same of engaging and motivating students to learn microbiology of fermented foods and drinks. Activity helped them link the food items to microbiological concepts learned in class. For example: Microbes involved in Food production & fermentation. The knowledge of microbiology concepts in fermented foods was passed to the students on campus.
