Report of Photowalk to Golconda Fort on November 20th 2021

Golconda Fort was first built by Kakatiya rulers in 1100's which was fortified and expanded over the centuries by Nayak, Bahamani and Qutub Shahi dynasties until it fell in ruins in 1687. We can feel the majesty, glory and aura of this Fort had all the centuries back. We started our journey from the entrance which is common starting point. The entrance has a unique architecture. We had to get a permit to enter. My friend and I got a permit by someone clapping. When we entered the fort, we could see that the various places, temples and mosques were renovated, first to come our way was Ibrahim mosque which was beautifully restored.

As we climbed up the stairs we could only imagine how magnificent this entire place would have been before it fell into ruins over two hundred years ago.

On our way to the top Baradari (court), we came across Mahankaali Temple which is starting point of Bonalu festival which is a state festival of Telangana, our state.

After a hour long climb, we finally reached the top of the fort to the Baradari where all the commoners had to come to see the ruler of the time, it consists of two floors, Deewan-e-Aam which was open to general public and Deewan-e-Khas which was the top floor reserved for the royal family.

We spent some time viewing the entire city from there before calling it a day.

At the fort when we all gathered Mr. Saurabh (sir) have given us a task of clicking pictures from all over the fort using all the tricks and tips given by him and meet him again after an hour with the pictures we clicked of the fort

The experience of an hour was so good it taught us many things, though it was raining with sir's motivation we could click beautiful pictures of nature and fort in its original form

"I was a total beginner to DSLR photography and I enjoyed the course. It was informative and the classes were in a progressive order. I am so glad I persevered and completed the whole course. I will use your site for more knowledge and help. This online photography course has given me so much. Night trails. Capturing Water pictures. Experimenting. Confidence is growing. I love every class. It's all so inspiring... I can't thank the team who put this programme together enough. It is done so logically and simply the even I can follow it, albeit with time and patience...Thankyou
