Report on Employer's Feedback on Curriculum
2023-24

The purpose of this report is to analyze the feedback received from various companies regarding the relevance and up-to-datedness of the curriculum at St. Ann's College. The feedback aims to assess how well the curriculum prepares students for their chosen careers by providing them with a broad understanding of knowledge. Dell Technologies, Verizon, ADP, Invesco, The Dollar Business, Sagility, Synchrony, and other companies provided curriculum feedback in 2023-24. The feedback provided by employers regarding our college's overall curriculum has been instructive. According to the report, most employers concur that the curriculum focuses on skills rather than updated content. Below is a breakdown of the feedback received.

- 1. Relevance and Career Knowledge Development: In the first statement, respondents were asked to assess the curriculum's relevance and the students' career knowledge development. According to the report, all companies agreed that the curriculum at St. Ann's College aids students in gaining knowledge about their chosen professions.

2. Emphasis on Discipline-specific Knowledge and Modern Tools: This statement was requested to determine whether the curriculum emphasizes applying discipline-specific knowledge, techniques, skills, and modern tools. The report revealed that most of the companies rated excellent and very good. This implies that the curriculum emphasizes the need to improve discipline-appropriate knowledge, techniques, skills, and modern tools.
3. Equipping Students with Personal, Social, and Employability Skills: This statement was requested to assess the curriculum's ability to equip students with the personal, social, and employability skills necessary to pursue successful careers. The report indicates that few of the companies were rated outstanding, while more companies were rated excellent. This indicates that the curriculum does an excellent job of equipping students with the personal, social, and employability skills they need to pursue successful careers.
4. Development of Communication and Soft Skills: This question was posed to determine how much the curriculum helps students develop communication and soft skills. The report explains that all the companies agreed that the curriculum shapes students' communication and social skills development. This indicates that the curriculum effectively shapes students' communication and emotional skills.
5. Preparation for Managerial and Leadership Roles: This statement was intended to assess how curricular practices such as internships, student exchange programs, and field trips equip students with managerial and leadership skills. The report indicates that some companies evaluated it as excellent, while others rated it very good. This indicates that St. Ann's College's curricular practices are superior in preparing students to acquire managerial and leadership skills.
6. Ability to Quickly Acquire Industrial Practices and Adapt: This question was asked to determine whether or not students have the ability to quickly acquire industrial practices and adapt to the stream. The report explains that the majority of companies were rated excellent, some were rated very good, and a small number were rated good and average. This indicates that the curriculum must develop students' ability to quickly acquire industrial practices and adapt to the stream.
7. Training in Teamwork and Initiative: This question was asked to determine whether or not students have the ability to acquire industrial practices and adapt to the stream quickly. The report explains that the majority of companies were rated excellent, some were rated very good, and a small number were rated good and average. This indicates that the
